

Survey: Healthcare execs name data analytics, population health among top challenges for 2018

Written by Jessica Kim Cohen | October 09, 2017 |

The HealthCare Executive Group released its list of the top 10 challenges the healthcare industry will face in 2018 during the group's annual forum in Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 3.

The HealthCare Executive Group compiled and ranked the list after analyzing survey responses from leaders of health systems, health plans and related associations.

Here are the top 10 challenges the HealthCare Executive Group identified for 2018.

1. Clinical and data analytics
2. Population health services organizations
3. Value-based payments
4. Cost transparency
5. Total consumer health
6. Cybersecurity
7. Healthcare reform
8. Mobile health technology
9. Addressing pharmacy costs
10. Engaging digital consumers